

TRIANGLE LEADERSHIP CONSULTING

Leaders Developing Leaders

Hope Hills, Ph.D., has consulted with C-suite and high-potential leaders and their teams since 1991, when she joined Farr Associates. Her earlier experience included leading non-profits and, as a faculty member at the University of Missouri, founding the Multicultural Counseling Program. In addition to coaching, she has consulted with a variety of organizations, developed leadership and diversity programs, and created the Interpersonal Styles Inventory, useful for individual, team and 360 degree assessments of interpersonal styles.

Laura Taylor, DM, PCC, brings more than 30 years of experience to our practice. After a successful career as a Senior Chief in the US Navy, she now focuses on organization effectiveness, coaching and developing business, government, and nonprofit leaders. With an easygoing style and skillful use of humor, she provides confident and frank advice to talented, tough leaders to help them solve problems, make decisions, build productive teams, and achieve personal and organizational goals.

Carol Brainard, MBA, guides individuals and organizations through periods of significant change. Since 1984, her consulting practice has focused on strategic alignment, leadership development, collaborative teamwork, and organizational effectiveness. As a coach, Carol works with senior and emerging leaders whose ability to inspire, organize and innovate are keys to success. Carol's experience includes global business, government, education, and philanthropy with prior positions in marketing, IT, and consulting methodology design.

Beth Minton, MBA, MS, PCC, has over 30 years of management, consulting and coaching experience. Her perspectives result from her rich and diverse background, including an early career as an officer in the US Coast Guard, packaged goods brand management, and strategic planning and organizational effectiveness consulting. For the last decade, she has been coaching and training executives, high-potential leaders and teams into reaching their full potential and realizing their visions.

Laura Wimbish, Ph.D., has over 20 years experience as a consultant, executive coach and organizational development specialist, and is currently a principal with the Circle Consulting Group. Her focus is on helping people to transcend self-limiting perceptions, attitudes and interpersonal behaviors so that they can become great leaders. She has worked extensively with executives and their teams to create innovative organizations capable of meeting the challenges of an increasingly complex and globalized marketplace.
